SEAPLANE BASE WILL BE SOUGHT

Municipal Seaplane Landing Stage Site Object of Tour To-morrow

A ground inspection of sites located on the Victoria waterfront, with the object of selecting a suitable base for a municipal seaplane landing stage, will be undertaken by city officials, with technical advisers from the Royal Canadian Air Force, to-morrow morning.

Flight-Lieut. A. E. Hull, from the B.C. Air Station at Jericho Beach, is expected by seaplane to-morrow and will join the party, which will include officials from the Royal Canadian Navy, Work Point Barracks, and the B.C. Airways, who have been asked by the city to help in the location of a suitable site.

TRAFFIC GETTING HEAVIER

At present, it is stated, Victoria has no satisfactory arrangements for visiting aircraft. Temporary arrangements have been made for the Seattle-Victoria air mail plane, but in recent months the number of visiting craft has been growing, and a more permanent type of landing stage is desired, it is said.

KEYES AT PORTSMOUTH

London, Nov. 26 (Canadian Press Cable).—Admiral Sir Roger Keyes, who gained fame as commander of the operations against Zeebrugge and Ostend in April, 1918, has been appointed commander-in-chief of the Portsmouth station of the navy. For the last three years he has been commander of the Mediterranean station.

C.N.R. TO SHARE IN ALBERTA RAIL PLAN

Montreal, Nov. 26.—Directors of the Canadian National Railways decided at the monthly meeting here, to-day to co-operate with the Canadian Pacific Railway in the purchase and joint operation of the Edmonton, Dunvegan and B.C. Railway.

The C.N.R. purchased the railway from the Alberta Government last summer on the understanding that the Canadian National could participate in the deal on equal terms if the latter company should so desire.

Sir Henry Thornton, president of the C.N.R., conferred with Hon. Charles Dunning, Minister of Railways, at Ottawa Sunday concerning the deal, and following the meeting it was a foregone conclusion the option would be taken up at to-day's meeting here.

BROWNLEE PLEASED

Edmonton, Nov. 26.—Premier Brownlee to-day expressed pleasure at the news of the decision of the Canadian National Railways to co-operate with the C.P.R. in the purchase and joint operation of the Edmonton, Dunvegan and British Columbia Railway in Alberta.

An important result of the C.N.R. decision, the Premier said, would be a safeguard against possible duplication of railway service in the north, and he regarded the joint participation and operation of the two companies as a great step forward.

BYRD'S ANTARCTIC TRIP TO START NEXT SATURDAY

Wellington, N.Z., Nov. 26.—All the units of Commander Richard E. Byrd's Antarctic expedition were assembled at Dunedin to-day for the first time since the first contingent left the United States.

Commander Byrd will leave for Ross Sea on Saturday aboard the barque City of New York. The other supply ship will leave soon afterwards.

It was announced Richard Brophy of New York, the expedition's business manager, had been appointed second in command.

Part of the expedition, which totals eighty persons, came to Dunedin aboard the supply ship Eleanor Bolling last week. The others arrived yesterday aboard the City of New York.

Since the Eleanor Bolling arrived at Dunedin she has visited Wellington and taken aboard a tri-motored aeroplane in which flights to the South Pole are planned to be made.

GALE LASHES WEST EUROPE

Twenty-nine Lives Known Lost in Four-day Storm

London, Nov. 26.—The western coast of Europe was being buffeted by a terrific gale of four days' duration to-day. The storm already had taken at least twenty-nine lives. Most of them at sea, where a heavy toll of shipping was taken over the week-end.

No fewer than twenty-one ships appeared on Lloyd's list to-day as wrecks or in distress, while at least one United States vessel, the freighter Waban, which sailed from Hamburg on November 16, was driven ashore near the Ter-schelling Light, but succeeded in getting off in safety.

In addition to the twenty-nine known to have lost their lives, at least twenty were missing to-day, with conflicting reports concerning the safety of a score more. The entire crew of the Italian freighter Sagunto also was feared to have been drowned off Holland. The number of men aboard was not known.

While the gale was violent over the land, only six persons were reported killed in Britain. All the other deaths were at sea.

SEA DISASTERS

Among the shipping disasters were the following:

The French freighter Cesare foundered off Algiers, fifteen men being drowned and four rescued.

A Dutch vessel foundered in the Zuyder Zee, five being drowned.

The Norwegian steamship Christian Michaelson went ashore off Holland, three being drowned.

Liverpool, Nov. 26.—Sir Austen Chamberlain, British Secretary for Foreign Affairs, returned to England yesterday aboard the liner Regina, looking bronzed and healthy and presenting a strong contrast to his appearance when he left several months ago.

He declared his health was now quite restored and he intended to resume his duties in the Foreign Office at once.

Sir Austen declined to comment on foreign affairs or politics, but willingly discussed incidents of his tour, especially his visit to Hollywood, Calif., and his tour of Canada. He said he had been very much impressed, not only with the progress Canada had made and which he had anticipated, but by the almost limitless possibilities before the Dominion when it had the capital and time to develop its resources.

He was loud in his praise of California air and weather and declared they had been important factors in restoring his health.

STOCK EXCHANGE SEAT RECORD MADE

New York, Nov. 26.—A New York Stock Exchange seat was sold to-day for $575,000, a new high price and a gain of $25,000 over the previous record. The suggestion to increase the number of seats by paying each member a dividend of an extra seat has been a factor in the recent sharp advances.

TO PAY TAXES ON BIG AREA

Supreme Court of Canada Decides For B.C. and Against F. M. Rattenbury

Ottawa, Nov. 26.—The Supreme Court of Canada to-day upheld a judgment of the British Columbia Court of Appeal, which found the Land Settlement and Development Act of British Columbia was intra vires. The question arose on an action between F. M. Rattenbury and the Land Settlement Board of British Columbia.

Mr. Rattenbury owned 40,000 acres along the surveyed route of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway in British Columbia and carried on a colonization business. In 1917 the Land Settlement Board entered into negotiations with Mr. Rattenbury with a view to taking over his land. The negotiations fell through. Mr. Rattenbury then claimed $500,000 damages, alleging unlawful acts by the board in clouding his registered title and imposing taxes against his land without statutory authority.

QUESTIONS RAISED.—The pleadings in the case raised points of law as to whether the British Columbia Land Settlement Board was liable to be sued, being a branch of the Provincial Department of Agriculture, whether Mr. Rattenbury's claim disclosed a cause of action, and whether the registered title and imposing taxes against his land without statutory authority.

TWO COURTS AGREE.—The British Columbia Court of Appeal reversed these findings and found the act was intra vires.

Mr. Rattenbury appealed to the Supreme Court of Canada, which to-day upheld the Court of Appeal of British Columbia.

CHAMBERLAIN BACK AT POST

Foreign Secretary Returns to Britain After Tours in Canada and U.S.

London, Nov. 26.—Sir Austen Chamberlain, apparently fully restored to health by his long voyage to California, and his tour across Canada, resumed his duties at the Foreign Office to-day.

Liverpool, Nov. 26.—Sir Austen Chamberlain, British Secretary for Foreign Affairs, returned to England yesterday aboard the liner Regina, looking bronzed and healthy and presenting a strong contrast to his appearance when he left several months ago.

He declared his health was now quite restored and he intended to resume his duties in the Foreign Office at once.

KING, ILL, IS ABLE TO REST BUT POORLY

But No Spread of Pleurisy Found, Say Physicians in Bulletin

Strength Maintained; Temperature 101.6, Say Medical Attendants

London, Nov. 26.—King George had an uncomfortable day, an official bulletin issued at 9 o'clock to-night said.

"The King has not had a comfortable day. His temperature was 101.6, but the pleurisy has not extended further and his strength is maintained," the physicians reported.

There was a surprise for the crowds in front of Buckingham Palace shortly before noon when two officers came out carrying a glass-fronted mahogany frame, which they tied to the railings with a golden cord. It contained the forenoon medical bulletin on the King's condition. It was the first time this had been posted, and the crowd surged forward with anxious faces to read the brief typewritten words.

PLEURISY SPREADS

The bulletin, signed by the King's physicians, Sir Stanley Hewitt and Lord Dawson of Penn, read:

"The King passed a restless night. A variability in the fever and the spread of the pleurisy must be expected at this stage of the illness."

MEDICAL MAN'S OPINION

A special medical writer in The London Evening News, analyzing the bulletin on the King's condition, says:

"To-day's bulletin should not cause unnecessary alarm or anxiety. He is exactly what age might expect in the progress of an illness of this nature. There will be a certain amount of pain and consequent restlessness until the pleurisy subsides or the two inflamed surfaces are kept from rubbing against each other by nature's sticking plaster—an exudate of fibrine causing adhesions and preventing friction."

"We may not expect much alteration in the conditions for another day or (Concluded on page 3)

$200,000 FIRE IN EDMONTON

Six Firms Lose Heavily in Spectacular Blaze in City's Wholesale District

Edmonton, Nov. 26.—Losses estimated at $200,000 were the result of the most spectacular fire in this city's history, when flames gutted the Lambson Building on 103rd Street, between Jasper and 102nd Avenues, last evening. Nearby buildings in the wholesale section were threatened for a time.

Six Edmonton business firms renting space in the building suffered losses on stocks, and though definite information will not be available until later, it is believed there will be little if anything salvaged. The concerns are: Brody's Limited, wholesale clothing and dry goods; B. E. Brown, commission brokers; Universal Novelty Co.; H. G. Love and Co., wholesale electric supplies; Hartford Fruit Co., wholesalers and Blue Ribbon Ltd.

"The building is owned by the Hudson's Bay Company.

No estimate has been made as to the damage in the Western Grocers Building, next to the one destroyed.

BRING QUICK VERDICT

After calling four witnesses, Coroner E. C. Hart informed the jury that if it wished the inquest would be adjourned in order to secure the evidence of Mr. Bendrodt later. The jury, however, was able to render a verdict without hearing Mr. Bendrodt and brought in its finding after only a few minutes' deliberation.

New Wing to Double Empress Hotel, to Start At New Year

Construction of an addition to the Empress Hotel, which will practically double the size of that hotel, will start just after the end of the year, it was learned to-day.

The new structure will contain 250 rooms, which, it was pointed out, is quite a large hotel in itself and most as large as the present Empress which has 300 rooms.

Plans of the new structure are now being completed by C.P.R. architects and are due to arrive here within the next few weeks, and the contractors will be at work shortly afterwards.

As the new Empress construction and furnishings will involve an expenditure of around one million dollars, Victoria's building programme for 1929 will be off to a big start as the year opens. The new wing will take all of 1929 to complete.

Included in the plans for the construction of the new wing is the addition of a large number of new kitchens and service departments for the hotel. The present kitchens at the Empress will be inadequate to meet the demands of the hotel when its capacity is doubled.

Besides the complete elevator system which will be installed in the new structure, the elevator system in the main structure will be renovated and increased.

The new wing of the Empress will start from the present north wing and run at an angle back towards Douglas Street, the plans show.

Stocks Soar At New York

New York, Nov. 26.—The bull market on the New York Stock Exchange started along at a brisk pace to-day, stopping only temporarily to absorb a large volume of selling which followed the marking up of the call money rate from 6 1/2 to 7 1/2 per cent. Extreme gains in the active high priced issues ran from 8 1/2 to nearly 12 per cent. The ticker kept fairly well abreast of the market.

Several blocks of 5,000 to 15,000 shares changed hands in the first half hour.

FIRST AID AWARDS SHOW IMPROVEMENT

Total of 936 Certificates and Awards Give Net Advance of 71 For Year

Governor Entertains St. John Ambulance Delegates at Annual Meeting

Lieutenant-Governor R. Randolph Bruce entertained the delegates to the annual meeting of the British Columbia council of the St. John Ambulance Association at dinner Saturday evening prior to the conference at Government House.

His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Hon. W. C. Nichol, president, Col. C. W. Villiers, vice-president, Col. C. G. Pennock, hon. secretary, A. J. Dallin, hon. treasurer, G. H. Stevens, hon. auditor, H. W. Edmondson, executive committee, Hon. N. S. Loughheed, Hon. W. A. McKenzie, Col. Lorne Drum, Dr. W. H. Sutherland, Dr. A. B. Hudson, S. J. Halls, W. Fulton and Mrs. C. E. Wilson.

Of 936 certificates and awards issued during the last year, it was pointed out, 607 were certificates, 100 vouchers, sixty medallions, thirty-four labels, one pendant, twenty-four intermediates, seventeen nursing and eighty-seven juniors.

The net increase over the previous year was seventy-one awards. Tribute was paid in the report of the association to the late Hon. William Sloan, former honorary president. Dealing with the work of the association the report proceeded:

SKILLED POLICE
The benefit of members of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, provincial, railway, municipal and city police having skilled knowledge in first aid is constantly drawn to the attention of the public by the press.

"The majority of these officials, anxious to keep themselves proficient, take the course of lectures in first aid annually and are holders of the medallion and annual labels of the association."

"Attention has been drawn in previous reports to the advisability of including a first aid course in the curriculum of the Provincial Normal Schools, but up to the present without success."

"It has frequently been suggested that as students of our Normal Schools, after obtaining their diplomas, are spread out in different points throughout British Columbia, sometimes situated a considerable distance from medical aid, that the study of first aid and home nursing should be included in the curriculum, and it is hoped that this will be done in the near future."

"It is anticipated that satisfactory arrangements may be made for these classes in Victoria in the coming year."

NURSES TRAINING
"With the advance of medical science the extent of the course taken by graduates from nurses' training schools, in connection with the large hospitals, has been broadening, but the Royal Jubilee and St. Joseph's Hospitals of Victoria include the St. John Ambulance first aid course, thereby many graduate nurses show their recognition of the value of these courses by qualifying for the medallion, necessitating attendance at these annual series of lectures."

"Various automobile associations throughout the country, when discussing the appalling number of serious accidents, have urged the advisability of all motorists possessing knowledge, enabling them to effectually render first aid in cases of necessity."

"The majority of the large mining companies encourage their employees' interest in first aid, and also mine rescue work by defraying the expenses and offering valuable prizes in local competitions."

"Up to the present large lumbering firms have contented themselves by complying with the provisions of the Workmen's Compensation Act by employing a certificated attendant, but it is hoped during the coming year that they will follow the example of the mining companies. First aid not only teaches how to treat injuries, but what is sometimes of greater importance, how to prevent minor ones developing into serious cases through unskilled handling."

LINDBERGH AT SAN ANTONIO

San Antonio, Texas, Nov. 26.—Colonel Charles Lindbergh slipped into San Antonio at 3.30 yesterday afternoon and landed at Kelly Field. He flew direct to San Antonio from Tampico, Mexico, being on the way to New York. Colonel Lindbergh landed here when he was supposed to be hunting near Tampico. His Curtiss-Palco plane was put in a hangar at the field, and he apparently made an effort to cover up the fact that he was in the city. It was the first time Colonel Lindbergh had visited San Antonio since he graduated from the advanced flying school at Kelly Field in the Spring class of 1925. The flight to San Antonio from Tampico was made without a stop. The colonel told Lieutenant Thompson he had come direct to San Antonio because he was anxious to get to New York to fill an engagement. He was behind schedule, and this led officers at the field to believe he would make a long jump to-day. On Saturday night, Colonel Lindbergh was expected to arrive at Brownsville, Texas, from Tampico, but literally "flew the track" when he dropped down soon after taking off late in the afternoon to spend the night at the El Naranjo Ranch, not far from the Mexican metropolis. He was accompanied by Colonel Alexander McNabb, military attaché at the United States Embassy at Mexico City, and his host, a Mr. Buckley.

KING, ILL, IS ABLE TO REST BUT POORLY

So, then we may hope for more reassuring symptoms."
ANXIETY GROWS
London, Nov. 26.—Increasing anxiety over the illness of King George was evident to-day in view of a rise in his temperature yesterday and of the statement by his physicians on Saturday that pleurisy continued to be a "prominent feature."
The continuance of pleurisy, although it was stated to have lessened somewhat yesterday, aroused some fear to-day that it might lead to pneumonia, but there was no hint of this in the official reports from the bedside and the suggestion appeared purely speculative.
Inquirers at Buckingham Palace were told at 6 a.m. to-day that there was no change and that the King was still resting comfortably.
The King's temperature had reached 101, but had not exceeded that.
MUST OVERCOME CAUSE
The London Daily Mail to-day began its report with an expression of regret that the King's condition was less satisfactory. While declaring the official bulletins were precise and accurate, the newspaper added:
"But the illness as a whole must be borne in mind. Physicians know only too well that when there is beyond a doubt a microbe, as in the King's case, it must be overcome. Until it is routed, the cause cannot be said to be without danger."
The newspaper added that the cheerfulness of the King was considered by his physicians to be an asset toward his recovery and to bolster it he was allowed, at his own request to receive visits from certain friends. He prefers talking or reading. His only complaint is that he is confined to bed and he shows no anxiety over his illness, but treats it lightly.

STRENGTH MAINTAINED
The majority of the newspapers to-day regarded the King's condition hopefully and treated his fever as a natural and foreseen fluctuation. They stressed the part of the physicians' statement which said his strength was maintained. A bulletin last night, signed by the King's physicians, Sir Stanley Hewitt and Lord Dawson of Penn, said:
"The King has had a disturbed day, due to an increase in fever. His strength is maintained."
Another happening that added to the anxiety was the stationing of two nurses at the King's bedside during the night. Previously there had been only one nurse.
Queen Mary and other members of the Royal Family, however, went about their visits in the customary manner, and a message was sent to the Prince of Wales, who is now hunting in Africa, telling him it was needless to make any change in his plans.
PRAYERS OFFERED
The Duke and Duchess of York called at Buckingham Palace yesterday and attended divine service in the palace chapel with the Queen and Princess Mary while fervent prayers were being offered throughout the Empire for the recovery of the King. Later the Queen and her daughter took a motor ride.
A touching tribute of sympathy came with a simple bunch of flowers brought by a pale youth, George Goodleup representing the organization of Sea Wolves of the Scouts of the Isle of Man. He had traveled all night through a wild storm to bring them in behalf of his comrades of the island. He was graciously welcomed and assured the flowers would be placed in the room of King George.

CHRISTMAS PROGRAMME
London, Nov. 26.—It is obvious, even to laymen, that King George's illness will render him totally unable to pursue his usual daily rounds for some time. It is almost inevitable, therefore, that the royal family's ordinary plans for Christmas will have to undergo alterations.
Since their married life began, King George and Queen Mary have spent almost every Christmas at Sandringham. As far as possible, Christmas at Sandringham with the royal family has been as much a family reunion as with Britishers more lowly placed, but it was always the grotesque invention among certain light-hearted journalists to depict Sandringham at Yuletide as a sort of glorified Dingley Dell.
SAD MEMORIES
Christmas for some of the elder royal family members brings many sad memories. King George's elder brother, the Duke of Clarence, was in the grip of an illness on Christmas which later caused his death and hence altered the whole life of King George. Queen Victoria, unknown to the general public, was sinking slowly toward death another Christmas, and it was during the Christmas season following the close of the World War that King George's youngest son, Prince John, who was thirteen years of age, passed into a condition which ended in his death three weeks later.
CRUISE NOT PLANNED
It has been announced that if King George recovers his health he will not undertake another Mediterranean cruise. Whether he will go to Sandringham will depend, of course, largely upon the rapidity of his recovery and the advice of his physicians. Norfolk weather is not particularly inviting at this season of the year. The atmosphere is usually damp, the country being low-lying. It would not be surprising if the physicians should advise King George to go to some place like Brighton.

Prince of Wales Is At Camp in Africa

London, Nov. 26.—A dispatch to The London Daily Mail says the Prince of Wales yesterday was in a temporary camp about 160 miles north of Dodoma, Tanganyika, Africa.
The dispatch was regarded as significant in that it was announced in London that the Prince of Wales had been notified it was necessary for him to change his plans because of the illness of his father, King George.
The Prince's original plan was to return to the United Kingdom after noon and entrain at midnight for Kilgoma.
Dodoma is the nearest point of communication with the outside world and there is no telephone, telegraph or radio beyond it.
In the event the Prince is recalled, he will return by fast car and travel in a special train to Dar-es-Salaam, a trip of nineteen hours.

panies as most likely to give satisfaction also to the people of the Peace River Country.
TO COMBINE LINES
Asked as to what method of operation might probably be adopted for the E.D. & B.C. and allied roads under the joint ownership plan, Mr. Brownlee said he had no information as to the railways' intentions. It was possible, however, he thought, that they might set up an organization, whether in the nature of a separate company or otherwise, which would have control of the administration and operation of all the northern lines.

CANADA DEVELOPING GREAT WORLD TRADE; EXPORTS MOUNTING

WILL EXPORT NO PULP
Regarding political protests that Canada was exporting pulp, Mr. Robb said that through the development of industry in this country, the time was approaching when there would be none exported.

"We used to export pulpwood from Canada," he went on. "But now we export manufactured newspaper. We have become the greatest exporters of newspaper in the world. Very little pulpwood is now going out."
Mr. Robb said that the recent statement on the asbestos situation from W. G. Ross, who was Conservative member from Montreal, set out the situation fairly when he declared that it was "idle nonsense for us to say that Canada is the only country with asbestos."

"Canada is now manufacturing in the most complete form all the asbestos used in this country," he continued. "If we stopped selling asbestos to United States, the large number of miners who are living in the asbestos mines of Quebec, would be thrown out of employment, and we would not harm the United States business by simply driving the business to South Africa, or to one of the other countries supplying asbestos. Britain gets all the asbestos she needs from the continent."
Besides if we stopped exporting asbestos, there is no reason why the United States should not stop exporting to us cotton, which is a raw material we import, and which is the basis of a number of our important manufactures."

MUCH NONSENSE
Mr. Robb also said that there was much nonsense being talked about the importation of fruit into Canada.

"Some $20,000,000 of fruit was imported into this country last year, but we could not grow this in this country, unless you grow it in hothouses," he went on. "We cannot grow bananas, grapefruit, oranges and other tropical fruits, of which we use large quantities. Of other fruits, we find that where one section of the country may import small quantities at times, we find that the country is exporting an equal or larger quantity of the same fruit."

Mr. Robb pointed out that the great aluminum industry which is being established in Quebec is founded on bauxite, a raw material, every pound of which has to be imported into the country.

A WORLD-WIDE MARKET
Mr. Malcolm declared that British Columbia and Canada can look to the whole world as their markets. He said that the growth of the B.C. ports—showing an increase of 260 per cent in the last six years in the case of Vancouver—was dependent upon the growth and productivity of the whole Dominion.

"Policies for the promotion of export trade have, in my opinion, never been more enthusiastically supported by the business men of Canada than they have been during the last few days, nor has there ever been close co-operation with the department over which I have the honor to preside, by this interest in export trade, than there is at the present time," Mr. Malcolm said.

"In the first session of this Parliament, money was appropriated for the first time to assist the Canadian exporter by giving publicity to the products which Canada had to sell in the Mother Land."

"During the last session, a large sum was passed for the establishment in Canada of laboratories for scientific and industrial research."

EXTENDING SERVICE
"We are devoting our attention largely to the extension of our trade commissioners' service, so that more points of contact will be made with countries where the business appears to justify the placing of a trade commissioner."

"Careful study is also being given to the establishment of trade routes, so that as far as possible the Canadian producer may be able to ship to the markets of the world through Canadian seaports."

"Progress depends on the removal of obstacles and the application of urge and I feel that it is the Government's duty to remove as many obstacles as can be removed from the pathway of Canadian foreign trade."

"Probably no development in the Dominion during the last few years has been more spectacular than the development of our manufacturing industries."

TREMENDOUS INCREASE
"The record of the last five years is remarkable. The total gross value of Canada's industrial production has risen from approximately $2,500,000,000 in 1922 to almost $4,000,000,000 in 1928, an accomplishment of which we have every reason to be justly proud, especially when it is accompanied by large gains in construction, transportation, mining and internal trade."

Mr. Robb said that no part of the continent had greater potentialities for export manufacturing than the B.C. Coast cities with their wealth of cheap water power, proximity to raw materials and shipping facilities.

"Industry as a whole in Canada is much more nearly approaching an independent position than many economists think," Mr. Malcolm went on. "With the addition of our enormous export trade to our domestic trade, we are fast reaching the point where industry contributes to the national life as much money as it subtracts from the national coffers for the goods purchased at home."

"When any industry has, in addition to its domestic trade, an export business which creates a sufficient payroll and a sufficient raw material purchase account to make up the difference, then is that industry creating consumers within its own country to as great an extent as its dependence upon consumers."

"Many industries in Canada have reached this point and more are fast approaching it. When industry in Canada as a whole develops its export business to this point, then are we, figuratively speaking, prosperous. We should look upon the world as our market."

OPPORTUNITIES ALMOST UNLIMITED
Mr. Malcolm said that Canada's agricultural future was assured, mineral and forest productions increasing by leaps and bound and the country now turning to industrial development, with opportunities varied and almost unlimited.

"This is being more and more realized by manufacturers in other countries and the last few years have seen the establishment of many ranch factories and plants, particularly from the United Kingdom and the United States," Mr. Malcolm went on.

"Someone has said that the people of United States did not ride in automobiles because they were prosperous, but that they were prosperous because they rode in automobiles. This is no idle play on words. There is more truth in it than would appear at first glance for the automobile industry of United States, through its foreign trade and through its domestic sale, has contributed to the consumers of United States more money than it has taken out of its domestic business.

"The same could be said of the newspaper industry in Canada, which has distributed more money to the Canadian consumer than the Canadian consumer has ever paid for newspaper."

"All industry itself to the extent of its payrolls and to the extent of its raw materials, purchased within its own country, creates consumers."

NINETY-FIVE IN COURT

Vancouver, Nov. 26.—Raiding premises on Powell Street at 2 a.m. Sunday, Detective Sergeant Jewitt and officers of the morality squad of the Vancouver police arrested sixty-six Japanese. One, who gave his name as Oka, was charged with keeping a gambling house.

On Saturday the officers raided a place on Pender Street East and arrested Fong Chong and fourteen alleged inmates of a gambling house. Also on Saturday Young Kwong and thirteen alleged gamblers were brought in from another house on Pender Street East.

The ninety-five men arrested over the week-end were released on bail. When the accused appeared in police court this forenoon some $2,110 in fines was levied by Magistrate Shaw and another $50 in cash found on gaming tables was confiscated by the court.

VICTORIA'S MINISTERIAL VISITORS

VICTORIA THIS EVENING WILL HAVE an opportunity of hearing, in person or by radio, the views on public questions of three prominent members of the Canadian Government. Of the three Hon. J. H. King, British Columbia's minister at Ottawa, of course, is best known personally to our citizens, not only because this city was his home during the years he was in the Provincial Government, but also on account of his activities in the interest of the Coast since he became a minister at Ottawa seven years ago. Hon. Mr. Robb and Hon. Mr. Malcolm are not so well known personally out here, but they may be assured the citizens of Victoria are pleased they have seized the opportunity of renewing earlier associations in this part of the country by paying their present visit.

We have many evidences of the increasing interest the Dominion Government is taking in developments on the Pacific Coast. As Minister of Trade and Commerce, Mr. Malcolm is keeping a sharp lookout for new markets and he recognizes the part which the ports of this coast must play in the commercial expansion the next few years will witness. In these developments the port of Victoria is destined to share in a substantial manner. Mr. Malcolm and his colleague obviously desire to obtain first-hand information about us, what our facilities for handling more business are, what will be necessary in order that works already in existence may be capitalized to a greater extent. We may be sure they will miss very little. They will go back to Ottawa with an intimate understanding of Victoria's advantageous position in regard to trade and commerce.

Everybody, of course, knows about Hon. J. A. Robb, Minister of Finance, whose statesmanlike administration of his important department has won him an Empire-wide reputation. He will take a high place in the political history of this country as the author of the famous "Robb Budgets" with which he has been enabled to lower taxation and at the same time reduce our debt by several hundred millions in the last few years.

In view of the high positions the three ministers occupy in the public life of the Dominion, and the importance of their messages, we may expect a large audience to greet them at the Capitol Theatre tonight.

A HERO OF THE VESTRIS

SOMETIMES IT SEEMS AS IF IT TAKES a great tragedy to reveal the fundamental nobility of the human race.

The story of the sinking of the steamer Vestris has not been pleasant reading. But through the dark paragraphs of terror and death there have been bright gleams of courage and fidelity that are worth going far to get.

Michael O'Loughlin, the chief radio operator, made a name that should be remembered for a long time. To understand the nature of his heroism, you must fix in your mind a picture of the situation on the sinking vessel.

The Vestris was lying far over on its side, its decks slanting as steeply as the roof of a house. It was sagging lower in the water every minute, with long waves jarring it deeper as they broke over its nearly submerged bows. The passengers were huddled on deck in life preservers.

In the little cubby-hole of a radio room sat O'Loughlin. Perhaps "sat" is not the word; the room canted at such an angle that he had to brace his feet against the wall to keep from falling. He knew that at any moment the ship might turn completely over, or slide down into the depths without warning. To be cooped up inside under such circumstances hardly could have been pleasant.

But there sat O'Loughlin, keeping in his hand the little key that was the steamer's sole contact with the rest of the world. Hour after hour he stayed there, ticking out the signals that were bringing help across the hostile sea. Lower and lower the ship settled; at last the lifeboats slid down the slanting side.

Still O'Loughlin stuck, guiding the rescue ships to the scene. The power-generators were flooded, and he had to send his signals on the emergency coil, but he kept at it.

The scientists are fond of telling us that we are ruled by fundamental instincts which cannot possibly be broken. The strongest of these, they say, is the instinct of self-preservation. Oh, how they libel the race!

Self-preservation! O'Loughlin could easily have left his post after once making sure that help was on the way. He could have stepped outside, made his way to a lifeboat or raft, strapped a life belt about his waist and made sure of his own safety. No one could have blamed him for refusing to die like a drowning-rat in a sinking cage. But he did not.

Things like that happen oftener than we realize.

An ordinary, undistinguished man finds himself face to face with terror and death; and, without any flourish or heroics, he calmly ignores them and does the duty that presents itself. He may die as a result; yet the blindest materialist must admit that such a man has eternally conquered death. He has proved that it cannot frighten him; and the aspirations of the race are thereby vindicated.

BRITISH COLUMBIA AND COAL DUTIES

BRITISH COLUMBIA'S OBJECTION TO any increase in the duty on imported coal was made thoroughly plain at last Friday's sitting of the Tariff Board at Ottawa. Mr. A. C. Boyce, K.C., who was appointed counsel for this province by the Tolmie Government recently, made this statement:

The Attorney-General for British Columbia firmly and emphatically protests against any action of the board towards recommending any increase in the duty on bituminous coal imported into Canada.

Mr. Boyce pointed out that an increased duty would disrupt the export market of coal from British Columbia, lessen the activities of the industry, contribute to unemployment, create unrest, loss of capital, with consequent industrial depression.

The Tolmie Government took action to thwart the plan to increase the duty as soon as it heard of Nova Scotia's application for a higher tariff. It appointed Mr. Boyce to lodge its objection with all the vigor at his command. This course was followed almost immediately by an application from the Crows Nest Coal Mining Company, the second largest coal mining concern operating in British Columbia, for the abolition of the duty altogether.

Since the Tolmie Government obviously was warned of the effect upon the industry which any increase in the duty would have, and since it acted in the interests of the industry to the extent of opposing Nova Scotia's application, we may assume that in order to "keep the boys at home" it would support the plea of the Crows Nest concern.

The attitude of the Tolmie Government towards this question is in striking contrast with that of Mr. Bennett, with whose policies we presume the provincial Premier still agrees, since he preaches the gospel of higher duties wherever he goes.

WHEN MINISTERS FALL OUT

BETWEEN NOW AND THE GENERAL elections next year it would seem that the Baldwin Government will have to put its house in order and make up its mind what it intends to do on the tariff question. Mr. Amery has come out flat-footedly for a twenty per cent. duty on all foreign goods entering Great Britain. This is not the policy of the Government of which he is a member. Mr. Baldwin already has rapped a colleague over the knuckles for a similar announcement because his attitude towards the whole question has not changed. An industry not able to make out a good case for protection—now, of course, it is called "safeguarding"—will not be brought under the Act.

At this distance it is interesting to watch the members of a government which has dropped nearly 80,000 votes in less than a score of byelections falling out with one another on an economic policy which the country has shown, by its action on more than one occasion, it will not tolerate. In view of what happened in 1923, when only a few Empire commodities were involved in the preference proposals, it looks as if Mr. Amery is inviting a repetition of the verdict given at that election. Both Liberal and Labor parties, of course, would welcome a straight fight on his proposal. What attitude the consumer would adopt towards a new tax of twenty per cent. on all foreign goods imported may be easily imagined. He knows that he would have to pay it on the home-produced goods that would replace the foreign articles excluded by the duty.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

THE FRENCH IN AMERICA

There must be something like 2,000,000 people living in the United States who speak our language and hope to survive as a people. If we add to this considerable number the 2,500,000 French-Canadians who live in different parts of the Dominion, and who have their most compact group in our province, we can account in North America for a numerous body which can, in the future, exercise a considerable influence in the world. Unite these different scattered elements, there is an ideal. We in Quebec have good right to be proud that we live in the moral centre of this French population. It is in this province that both by history and its institutions the French soul of America has its home.

A BUSINESS MAN IN POLITICS

One of the busiest members of the Canadian cabinet is Hon. James Malcolm, Minister of Trade and Commerce. He was in England recently in connection with the work of his department. He has just been over the line of the Hudson Bay Railway with Major Graham Bell, Deputy Minister of Railways. The other day, he spoke from his office at Ottawa across the Atlantic to 10,000 people assembled for Canadian Day at the Empire Exhibition at Cardiff. A few weeks ago, at Ottawa, he discussed Australian trade with a delegation of British Columbia business men. Now, he is coming to Vancouver to look into the desirability of establishing a Canadian steamship line to Australia and another to the west coast of South America.

Happily, Mr. Malcolm has the faculty not only of keeping busy but of making his busy hours count. He is an excellent example of the highly-competent and disinterested business man employing his talents for the benefit of his country. Mr. Robb, his colleague, is another.

Clubs are trumps and South has the lead. North and South must win one of the four tricks, against a perfect defense.

Lay out the cards on a table, as shown in the diagram, and study the situation. See if you can find some method of play whereby North and South can win one of the four tricks. The solution will be printed on this page to-morrow.

Saturday's Solution
This problem, in addition to embodying the sequence play, necessitates restraining that very natural impulse to take out an opponent's singleton king with your ace.

South takes the first trick with his ace of trumps, and North discards either his heart or a low diamond. South then leads a low diamond, which West wins with the king. West is now forced to lead a club. North wins the trick, and East must discard. If he discards the good jack of hearts, South discards a diamond, and North and South will win the last three tricks with their two high diamonds and a heart. If East discards a diamond, South discards his heart, North and South winning the last three tricks in diamonds.

But if the ace of diamonds is led, and West's singleton king taken out, East will defeat the contract by merely following suit throughout the rest of the play.

"BLOTS ON VICTORIA'S BEAUTY"

The Editor—I was more than surprised to read Charles St. Barbe's criticism of your paper of Thursday last, under the above caption. The part of his letter that I would specially call attention to is that concerning the painting of the City Hall.

May I inform your readers that the mayor—unsolicited and wholly unexpected—stated at an ordinary meeting of the city council that he would donate the whole of the paint required for the exterior of the City Hall, provided that the council would undertake to provide the labor required. The public works committee, of which I am chairman, was asked to report concerning the cost of the work. The Building Inspector advised the committee that the value of the paint required for two coats over the entire building would be over $600. The labor would cost probably twice that amount. For the latter, tenders were called, and the result justified the inspector's estimates. The council then agreed unanimously to proceed with the work.

From first to last the mayor never interfered; furnished without stint the whole of the paint required, and whilst giving his opinion and assistance in regard to the methods and progress of the undertaking was not responsible in any way. If the cleaning, brightening, decorating and beautifying the old City Hall, with its age-old successive layers of dirt is a "blot on Victoria's beauty," it is certainly time to abolish the painting business and revert to the mud huts of the Indian tribes.

It may be that Mr. St. Barbe would have preferred some other color or a combination of colors wherever color to display artistic taste. I would not have objected, had I known of his antipathy to the color used, to have chosen another, yet I doubt whether if his taste suggested a delicate blue, a brilliant red, an emerald green, a dashing white, a sober brown, or a funeral black, he would escape criticisms from artistic wielders of the brush.

I do honestly and strenuously object to a carping criticism which seeks to stigmatize the gift of a generous heart, and frankly hope that such undeserved and churlish sentiments will yet be withdrawn.

Neither do I like the criticisms levelled at the city council in regard to the Johnson Street Bridge. As a rule bridges are built for other purposes

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO TO-DAY

The Victoria Daily Times, November 26, 1903

In a comparatively short time, five or six weeks, the municipal elections will again occupy the public mind. It is a little early yet to announce with any degree of certainty probable candidates.

This afternoon the first session of the tenth parliament of British Columbia was opened in the presence of crowded galleries and a large gathering of invited guests who were assigned seats on the floor of the House.

Hon. Sir Henri Joly de Lotbiniere was in attendance and read the Speech from the Throne, surrounded by an escort composed of naval and military officers, and attended by his aide-de-camp, Captain B. T. Drake, and his private secretary, R. B. Powell.

Last evening the Assembly Hall was the scene of unalloyed pleasure. It was the occasion of the citizens' ball in honor of Rear-Admiral Bickford, G.M.C., and the officers of His Majesty's navy on the North Pacific station.

Weather Forecast—Victoria and Vicinity—Southerly winds, unsettled and mild, with rain.

In view of the fact that the Arctic Chief Mine near White Horse, expects to commence shipping ore to one of the Vancouver Island smelters within a few months.

L. P. Duff, K.C., and Mrs. Duff are back again in Victoria, having arrived two evenings ago from London. As is well known, Mr. Duff was associate counsel on the Alaskan boundary tribunal, and in that connection spent about two months in the world's metropolises.

Some one broke into the pheasants' pen at Beacon Hill Park last evening and made off with six valuable birds.

The Victoria ladies' basketball team defeated the New Westminster ladies in the first of a series for the ladies' provincial championship at the Royal City last evening. The game was the first intercity match played in British Columbia, and a number of supporters accompanied the team from the Capital City, while Vancouver sent over a good contingent. The score was 8-0.

MISS D. PROCTER WED IN ENGLAND

Well-known Vancouver Girl
Bride of Lieut. Geoffrey Gowland, R.N.

A wedding of much interest to local friends of the bride, who for a number of years has spent the summer months in Victoria at her parents' summer home at Pinetree Bay, took place at noon on Saturday in London, England, when Dorothy Ellen, eldest daughter of Dr. A. P. Procter and Mrs. Procter, was united in marriage to Lieut. Geoffrey Gowland, R.N., son of Lieut.-Col. Edward Gowland, D.S.O. and Mrs. Gowland.

The ceremony took place at All Saints' Church, Ennismore Gardens, London, the marriage service of the Anglican Church being performed by Canon A. C. Deane, rector of the parish. The service was fully choral, and during the signing of the register the bride's father was present.

The bride who, in the absence of her father, was given in marriage by Mr. G. H. Dawson of Victoria, was attired in an exquisite ivory gown of period gown of ivory transparent velvet. The long, tight bodice was fashioned with a round neck line and the close-fitting sleeves were finished with a long point at the wrist. The soft folds of the gathered skirt fell to ankle length in the back, while the slightly bouffant sides and the shortened front gave glimpses of its lining of ivory lace. Her wedding veil, a family heirloom, of rare old lace, was arranged in cap effect and held in place by a slender chaplet of French orange buds ending in small clusters at either side of the head, while her bridal bouquet was composed of lily of the valley.

She was attended by her cousin, Miss Joyce Procter of London, who wore a charming frock of gold net embroidered in red motifs, the skirt extremely full and featuring the drooping hem line. Lieut. Langton Gowland, R.N., brother of the groom, acted as best man, while the ushers included his fellow officers of R.N.M.S. Furious, and Mr. Arthur P. Procter of London.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the residence of Lady Procter, 36 Francis Gardens, S.W., the bride being a niece of the late Sir Henry Procter, C.B.E. The guests included the old country friends and relatives of the bride and groom, and a number of British Columbia friends at present sojourning abroad.

BRIDE'S FATHER ABSENT WHEN BARRYMORE WEDS

Actor's Previous Wife Confirms Divorce Story; Wedding Solemnized Saturday

Los Angeles, Nov. 26.—The storm of questioning, which all but dashed the ship of matrimony on the rocks as it was about to embark, had completely died down to-day following the quiet wedding late Saturday of John Blythe Barrymore and Dolores Costello.

The bridegroom's only answer to charges that he was divorced from his former wife, known as Michael Stange, was the completion of wedding plans despite undercurrent of intimacy. Two of the outstanding families in the history of stage and screen were joined together by ceremony.

Barrymore comes from a long line of stage notables while the bride is the daughter of Los Angeles actor and Margie Costello, who was one of the greatest stars in screen firmament of two decades ago.

A number of movie stars were guests, but the father of the bride was not present. He has been among those who insisted that Barrymore should make a statement concerning his divorce from his former wife, Lionel Barrymore, brother of the bridegroom, was best man, while a sister of the bride, Helen Costello, also of the screen, was maid of honor.

SECOND WIFE INTERESTED
Cannes, France, Nov. 26.—Michael Stange, the former Mrs. Leonard Thomas and the second wife of John Blythe-Barrymore, has been living in such strict seclusion in the Chateau Gourdou, at Bar-sur-Loup near here that she received her first intimation that the actor was planning a third marriage when an Associated Press correspondent called.

"How interesting! I wish him happiness!" she exclaimed.

IS REALLY DIVORCED
Told of the apparent attempt to block Barrymore from getting a marriage license in Los Angeles to marry Dolores Costello, the author said:

"I haven't seen any newspapers for weeks, but if the public does not know that I am divorced why should I be surprised if the divorce proceedings were filed in New York. The first decree was granted in August of this year and I believe that three months later a final decree was granted."

Michael Stange, the pen name by which she prefers to be known, has been visiting at the home of Mary Norris. She said that she was returning to America within six weeks for a lecture tour and then was planning to go to England.

WOMAN OUTWITS BERNARD SHAW

Rude Letter in Response to Request Sold for Fifteen Shillings

London, Nov. 26.—It has taken a woman to outwit one of the most brilliant men of the age, George Bernard Shaw.

Some time ago the secretary of a woman's society wrote to Mr. Shaw asking for a presentation copy of his latest book, "The Intelligent Woman's Guide to Socialism and Capitalism."

Seven weeks elapsed and then her letter was returned from Cap d'Antibes with a characteristic three-line refusal in Mr. Shaw's writing at its foot.

"No, damn it," writes Mr. Shaw, and then proceeds to suggest that a society that cannot afford 15s. for a book cannot have any members.

He concluded by claiming that books that are not bought are never read.

Not to be beaten, the recipient took the letter to a West End bookseller, readily sold it for 15s., and with the proceeds bought a copy of Mr. Shaw's book.

This did not, however, end the story. Gabriel Wells, the New York bookseller, heard of the letter and secured it for £5.

"I have bought many Shaw letters," said Mr. Wells, "but this is the gem. I would not part with it for ten times £5."

Pupils' Recital Much Enjoyed

The recital given in Amphion Hall Friday evening by the pupils of the Victoria College, was a most successful event. The large audience gave many evidences of their delight and appreciation.

Two prettily executed and graceful dances by Grace and Lona Attfield, the National Dance of Holland and the sailor's hornpipe, and the well-executed "solos" by L. Hickling, vocal solos by Miss Edith Howell, a popular member of the Schubert Club, vocal duet by Miss Bella Lee and Amy Pogson, and monologues by Mrs. Dearborn, received well-merited applause. A delightful musical treat was a duet by Miss Lillian Attfield, following which, little Hazel Carter presented her with a beautiful bouquet on behalf of the pupils.

The programme followed: Ensemble, mandolins and banjos; piano, Elsie Snider; banjo, George Mayr; mandolin, Grace Attfield; steel guitar, Howard Winterburn; dulcimer, Elsie Snider; monologue, Mrs. Dearborn; mandolin, Elsie Snider; dance, Grace and Lona Attfield; banjo, Jean Menzies; vocal duet, Misses Bella Lee and Amy Pogson; mandolin, Winnifred Millard; guitar, Annie Wilderspin; ensemble, mandolins and dulcimer; cello, A. L. Hickling; banjo, duet, Jean Menzies and Ean Stewart; mandolin, Hazel Carter; dance, Grace and Lona Attfield; dulcimer, Mrs. Lillian Attfield; guitar, Owendoline Banks; ensemble, mandolins and banjos; song, Miss Edith Howell; monologue, Edna Dearborn; mandolin, Rose Botsell; guitar duet, Elsie Snider and Annie Wilderspin; ensemble, mandolins, guitars, banjos and dulcimer, with jockey dance, by Lona Attfield.

St. George Society Honors Its Founder

A whist drive and dance took place at the bi-monthly meeting of the Royal Society of St. George, the gentleman's prize, given by H. F. Bishop, being won by Mr. Hollier and the ladies, given by Mr. S. Clarke, by Mrs. J. F. Byng.

During the proceedings Alderman James Flower, ex-mayor of Stratford-on-Avon, paid the society a visit and gave a most interesting address on Shakespeare and the annual festival held at his birthplace. Alderman John Harvey presided and during the proceedings the honorary secretary, Alfred Hallam, referred in sympathetic terms to the recent death in London, England, of Howard Ruff, the founder of the Royal Society of St. George and honorary secretary of the London society. On the motion of Mr. Parnell, seconded by S. Clarke, the following resolution was passed by a standing silent vote and the secretary was requested to forward it to the London society. The officers and members of the Victoria, B.C. branch of the Royal Society of St. George have heard with sorrow and deep regret of the sad death of Howard Ruff, the honored and highly respected founder of our beloved society and honorary secretary at the headquarters in London, England, who for over twenty years has devoted so much of his time, attention, ability and talent to the formation and spread of our society and its great principles in all parts of the British Empire.

"While expressing our very deepest sympathy with the members of his family in the sad bereavement and deep loss which they and the society generally has sustained, we earnestly trust that a worthy successor may be appointed who will follow his splendid example, and who will still further spread the good work begun and carried on for so long by our worthy founder."

The winner of the dressed doll in the guessing competition at the recent sales of work under the auspices of the Junior W.A. and the Ladies' Guild at St. John's Church was Miss M. Baker.

ADVANTAGES OF DIPHTHERIA IMMUNIZATION

The process of immunizing children against the danger of diphtheria is known to almost every mother in this enlightened day, but despite her knowledge and her willingness, she is still afraid of it. I know this only too well for readers tell me that the doctor has advised them to have the baby immunized and they wonder what I think: is it a good thing, and will the baby suffer? Some do not quite understand the reason for the preliminary test. Perhaps I can clear this up.

The Shick test is given first to determine if the child is immune to diphtheria, for some persons have a natural immunity. Babies under six months keep to have this, but from nine months to five years a child is most susceptible to disease. The Shick test has revealed these facts.

The test is the insertion of a minute bit of the poison of diphtheria under the skin of the arm. Next to it is inserted a little sterile water and the doctor checks by this second injection so he will see just how much of an irritation is the result of the water and compare it with the irritation from the poison. If the child is not immune in about twenty-four hours there will be a faint or bright spot of red surrounding the point of injection of the poison. This will be visible for from four days to a week.

RAD AFTER EFFECTS UNUSUAL

When this pink spot appears, the doctor knows that were the child exposed to diphtheria he would take it. Then, and then only are the immunization doses of toxin-antitoxin given. The doses are given three times, one week apart. There is very little, if any, disturbance caused by them. The arm may feel slightly hard around the point of injection, but there is little soreness. In fact very few children react in any way at all to them. They simply are unaware that anything has been done to them.

In New York City where immunization has been done on a very large scale and covering many years, it has been found that immunity to the disease lasts ten years. As a child grows, he acquires a natural immunity to diphtheria, which most adults have, and so these doses of toxin-antitoxin protect him for those years when he is susceptible.

The time to do this is any time after the baby is nine months old, and certainly by the time he is running about and is in most danger of being exposed. This holds true for vaccination against smallpox, too, which is too familiar, and its efficacy too well known to need argument. Some health departments advise immunization as early as six months. Consult your own doctor.

STRING QUARTETTE
PLEASES AUDIENCE
AT FINE RECITALNew Musical Organization Gives First of Series of Chamber Music

The opening movement from one of Beethoven's quartettes, as played by the newly-organized Victoria String Quartette, in the first of a series of Sunday afternoon chamber music recitals, which took place yesterday in the New Thought Temple, was an earnest example of the true spirit of string quartette playing, and what may be expected from these four players. Beginning at three o'clock the recital concluded at 4:15, and future programmes will occupy this space of time during the winter Sunday afternoons.

WELL RECEIVED

There was a goodly turnout of musical people, noticeably many "string" players being present, and the abundant applause that greeted the players during their excellent performance must have proved most gratifying to the members of the quartette besides signifying the esteem chamber music is regarded by many local people. Such an organization is both a credit to the city and of great educational value to the art.

The programme arranged to suit the taste of everyone—opened with one of Beethoven's first six quartettes, that of the "Quartette in C minor," op. 18, No. 4, in which the great master embodies the classic form of the Minuet, a form Beethoven retained in his cantatas and symphonies during the first period of his writings. This and the second movement, the Scherzo, were splendidly achieved, as, indeed, was the whole work, those present evidently greatly appreciating its rendering.

CHARMINGLY PLAYED

The number that followed it, Tchaikovsky's famous "Andante Contabile," from his string quartette, op. 11, was charmingly played. This and the fine arrangement by Pochon of "Old Black Joe," Raff's "The Mill," and the Scherzo of Beethoven quartette were, perhaps, outstanding and most enjoyed. Schubert's celebrated "Moment Musical," (the concluding number), and another admirable arrangement by Pochon of the traditional Old English song, "Drink to Me Only With Thine Eyes," were other numbers of an enjoyable and profitable recital. In this, the second appearance of the quartette, it is obvious a growing and real pleasure is being obtained in listening to the playing of this combination of artists—Francis Gratian, Dorothy Francis, Jenny Wilkinson and Harold Taylor.

Cleveland, Ohio, Nov. 26.—A blizzard that settled over Ohio Saturday night and continued in various sections, yesterday claimed the lives of five airplane pilots and passengers.

Edwin H. Bassett, thirty-five, pilot for the Universal Air Lines of Chicago, was young wife and Glen R. Butt of Cleveland, a passenger, fell to their deaths in a blinding snowstorm near Rugerton, Ohio, Saturday night.

Asid as the blizzard raged yesterday, holding within their grasp virtually all planes except those of the mail service, two Cleveland air mail pilots braved the storm and lost. They were Tilden (Petel) Johnson, twenty-one, pilot for the Continental Air Lines, which carries the mail between Cleveland and Louisville, and Lawrence H. Garrison, pilot for the National Air Transport Company, bound from Bellefonte, Pa., to Cleveland, with a cargo of mail.

The Under Dogs In N.H.L. Come to Life

Downtrodden Hawks Hold Boston to Tie; Rangers Win Another

Maple Leafs and Americans Spring Surprises Saturday Night, Former Humbling Highly Touted Maroons, While Latter Down Canadiens; Rangers Lead American Group by Two Points, While Ottawa Has One-point Margin in the Canadian Section; Patrick's Club Defeats Pittsburgh 2-0

Toronto, Nov. 26. — The under dogs in the National Hockey League refuse to stay under. Over the week-end three teams which last year were second division outfits, clashed with more favorably considered outfits and came up smiling. Following up their victory over the Toronto Leafs Thursday, Tommy Gorman's Americans went to Montreal Saturday and emerged from the fray with a 4-3 win over the speedy Canadiens. While they were tumbling the Canadiens, the Toronto Leafs made the highly-touted Maroons look bad at Toronto when they defeated them 4-1. Then last night the downtrodden Chicago Black Hawks earned their only point of the season by holding the Boston Bruins to a 1-1 tie in the Windy City.

Ottawa Senators carried their tie game complex to Detroit, where the ray ended 1-1. The champion New York Rangers lowered Pittsburgh 2-0 at Madison square Garden.

OTTAWA LEADS. The results of the tussles saw Ottawa today clinging to the leadership of the international group, a single point ahead of the Americans and Leafs. Canadiens are a point behind these two and Montreal Maroons bring up the rear, a single marker behind the French-Canadians. Rangers have seven points in the American section, Detroit is second with five points, Boston third with four, Pittsburgh fourth with three and Chicago last with none.

MAY REGAIN PRESTIGE. The Maroons will have an opportunity of regaining the prestige they lost Saturday when they stack up against the Leafs again in Montreal on Tuesday. Senators and Americans will seek to break the tie they played in Ottawa recently when they met in New York in the same night and Pittsburgh will be given an opportunity to test its strength against the Bruins in Boston.

New York, Nov. 25. — The New York Rangers, clinging to their place at the top of the American division of the N.H.L., yesterday a hard-fought game from the Pittsburgh Pirates last night by a 2-0 score.

Paul Thompson, reserve forward, made a fine individual dash to the Pittsburgh net to tally a goal in the second period and Bill Cook and Frank Boucher staged a well-timed passing combination in the final period to score the second goal.

The Pirates spent forty-four drives against the pads of John Ross Roach, while Miller had only thirty-five stops.

Lineup:
Pittsburgh: Goaltender, Roach; Defenders, Miller, Hickey, Hickey, Hickey; Forwards, Cook, Boucher, Sweeney, Sweeney, Sweeney; Center, Sweeney; Substitutes, Sweeney, Sweeney, Sweeney.

Summary: First period: No score. Second period: 1, Rangers, Thompson, 12:25. Third period: 2, Rangers, Bill Cook, 11:25.

Chicago, Nov. 26. — Chicago Black Hawks broke their four-game losing streak last night, tying the Boston Bruins 1-1 in a N.H.L. game here.

Both teams scored in the first period and then turned the battle into a rough-and-tumble affair as each side struggled vainly for a score.

Eddie Shore, the nemesis of the Chicago team, scored the Bruins' goal at a pass from Wendell Wentworth, counted for the Hawks eight minutes later in a beautiful exhibition of teamwork with Duke Keats.

Lineup:
Chicago: Goaltender, Thompson; Defenders, Hickey, Hickey, Hickey; Forwards, Cook, Boucher, Sweeney, Sweeney, Sweeney; Center, Sweeney; Substitutes, Sweeney, Sweeney, Sweeney.

Summary: First period: 1, Boston, Shore, 06:11. Second period: No score. Third period: No score. Overtime period: No score.

Toronto, Nov. 26. — A dazzling wing attack which had the Montreal Maroons completely bewildered throughout most of the game gave Toronto Maple Leafs a 4-1 win over the Quebec aggregation in a National Hockey League game here on Saturday night.

The Leafs' win was the first they have scored over the Maroons in Toronto since the Montreal club was organized. They had, however, been the Cinderella men in Montreal once before.

Lineup:
Toronto: Goaltender, Thompson; Defenders, Hickey, Hickey, Hickey; Forwards, Cook, Boucher, Sweeney, Sweeney, Sweeney; Center, Sweeney; Substitutes, Sweeney, Sweeney, Sweeney.

Summary: First period: 1, Toronto, 11:25. Second period: 2, Toronto, 11:25. Third period: 1, Toronto, 11:25. Overtime period: No score.

LEWIS LOSES TO LANGRON ON FOUL BLOW

Cobble Hill Fighter Awarded Decision in Second Round After Low Punch

Albie Davies Beaten By Chris McAuliffe; Tim Keist Wins From Danny Pastore

A left hook to the stomach, which Dave Lewis landed low in the beginning of the second round, when Chris Langron was leaping in to land with a left to the head, terminated what promised to be a splendidly contested bout at Duncan Saturday night. Referee Johnny Morgan of Ladysmith, after ascertaining that Langron was unable to continue, awarded the contest to the Cobble Hill fighter.

In the first round the Welshman had a good lead in points as he landed at will with his left hand; but his punches did not seem to bother the local fighter. The latter contented himself with fighting at long range and allowed Langron to do most of the fighting.

In the second round Lewis started to force the fighting somewhat and at the time of the low punch both fighters were getting into their stride. The fans were very much disappointed at the unsatisfactory ending of the contest, it was generally agreed, however, that the low punch was unavoidable.

KEIST GETS DRAW. The semi wind up between Jack McLean, the Dunsmuir strong man, and Ted Beales was a real battle royal. The judges called the bout a draw.

Albie Davies gave away quite a lot of poundage to Chris McAuliffe of Vancouver, who was awarded the decision over the local boy. For the first three rounds Davies was a big lead as he landed all of the clean punches. In the fourth round Davies foolishly went in to fight and trade punches with his heavier and stronger opponent, with the result that he got the worst of the exchanges.

KEIST IS WINNER. The Keist-Pastore fight proved to be a real thriller as both fighters put on a real battle royal in every round. Both boys demonstrated that they can assimilate punishment that would mean curtains for lots of fighters as at times they swapped punches without any effort to block. For the first three rounds honors were even. In the fourth round Pastore showed up as a real straight razor fighter and landed a straight right to the jaw. The fight was awarded to Keist.

William Lewis of Victoria and Charlie Stokes of Duncan put on a good bout in the three-round curtain raiser. The boys fought at eighty pounds and it ended in a draw.

SCOTTISH WIN NIP AND TUCK GAME FROM BAYS

Militiamen Score in Last Ten Minutes of Thrilling Rugby. Game; Navy Wins

College Defeat University School By Field Goal Four Minutes Before Time

Taking advantage of two breaks in the last ten minutes of the game, Oliver and Alexander, the wing three-quarters for the Scottish, raced across the Bays' line to score the only tries in one of the best senior rugby games ever seen in Victoria at the Willows oval on Saturday.

Seldom have two such evenly-matched squads met in such a fast moving and hard fought game as was witnessed by a record crowd of spectators who saw this struggle. From start to finish the player put all their strength and rugby ability into the game, and not until the final whistle sounded did the men slow down.

In the other senior game, the Navy duplicated their performance of two weeks ago when they ran through the Pirates to score a 21-3 victory over the buccaniers at Cranmore Road.

Victoria College emerged victorious over the University School in a hard-fought battle at the High School grounds, by McMillan's well-placed drop kick in the last seven minutes of the game in the feature intermediate fixture, while the Ex-high fifties ran the intermediate Scottish ragged in the other league match when they amassed a total of forty points to their opponents' five at the Oak Bay Park.

Fine War Picture
Now Showing Here
At the Columbia

"The Somme," mightiest of all war pictures, greater by far than that memorable epic, "Mons," and excelling the big British motion picture "Ypres," in such a degree that words fail to describe its immensity, will be presented to-day at the Columbia.

"The Somme" is indeed greater by far than either "Ypres" or "Mons," in that it is not merely a story, but deals with the memorable campaign from beginning to end, in such a way that one feels he is taking part in the whole campaign, which, lasted from that first great offensive on July 1, 1916, through that memorable day when the first Canadian soldier went into action in the greatest battle of all history, on Friday, September 7, through the historic battle of September 19, down through those days filled with anxiety, gladness and sadness, as fate dealt the hand, into the final thrust by the allies, when the enemy were shoved back into their new line in the late months of 1917.

Lee Jaxon Players
To Appear In Fine
Comedy Attraction

Popular Stock Company to Stage "My Aunt From Brazil, Where the Nuts Come From," at Coliseum Theatre All Week; Plenty of Laughs and Lots of Fun Promised, Norma Shearer In "The Actress" to be Screen Attraction All Week.

With what promises to be a screamingly funny comedy farce the Lee Jaxon Players will open the current week at the Coliseum Theatre, commencing this evening at 8.30 o'clock, with "My Aunt From Brazil." This week's stage attraction is guaranteed by Mr. Jaxon to be one of the finest and most laughable to be presented here by his company since coming to Victoria. Written by Mr. Jaxon around that famous story, "Charley's Aunt," which has had such successful runs on both stage and screen, the play this week will provide plenty of fun and merriment for regular Coliseum patrons. Lee Jaxon will take part of the act.

EXPERIMENTING

The Lee Jaxon Players have been at the Coliseum Theatre for fourteen weeks, and during that time have attracted crowds to the Coliseum that were never there before. As yet, the company is in the experimental stage as Mr. Jaxon explained last week. He is trying out his audiences to see just what they want and therefore is producing each week something a little different. Since coming here they have starred particularly in farce comedies, but have also staged dramas, musical shows and plays. Last week for the first time they introduced ensemble singing, and this proved a great hit with their patrons. It is to be hoped that the company will not let this pleasing feature drop. Miss Dorothy Raymond, leading lady with the company, is well cast in this week's role and promises to be as charming as ever. Others who will have parts will be Miss Billie Reams, Miss Ada Daniels, Jack Holt, Howard Van Alstyne and Tracey McDermott.

THE SCREEN

On the screen this week Manager George McEwan has secured Norma Shearer, in her latest film release, a picture entitled "The Actress." Miss Shearer in the last two or three years has risen from an extra to a star of the first magnitude, and will be seen at her best in "The Actress," which will be shown every evening this week with matinees on Wednesday and Saturday afternoons.

Shakespeare Plays
At Royal Victoria

To-night at the Royal Victoria Theatre the citizens of Victoria will have the privilege of seeing the Stratford-upon-Avon Festival Company, which regularly appears at the Shakespeare Memorial Theatre at Stratford-upon-Avon. That institution possesses a royal charter and is under the patronage of His Majesty the King. The company is now on a six months' tour in Canada and the United States, extending as far west as this city and Los Angeles. At the conclusion of the tour the company will return to England to open the regular Summer season at the Shakespeare Memorial Theatre on Shakespeare's birthday, April 23. The present tour is for the double purpose of revealing to audiences on this side the vivid, human and thrilling qualities of the Shakespeare plays when presented as the author intended, and also to aid in raising a fund for the rebuilding of the Shakespeare Memorial which was destroyed by fire two years ago. The North American tour is under the management of P. Ray Comstock and Morris Gest, who have brought many splendid European organizations to this country.

FINE COMPANY

The Stratford-upon-Avon Festival Company includes in its membership many players who have won distinction on the London stage, but they regard their selection to play at Stratford-upon-Avon as the most notable achievement of their careers. To play Shakespearean roles in the town of Shakespeare's birth, with the sources of all Shakespearean tradition and inspiration easily accessible, before audiences that include the greatest Shakespearean scholars of the world. This truly is an experience that every actor must esteem a great honor and privilege.

The repertoire arranged for the engagement at the Royal Victoria Theatre is as follows: Monday evening, "The Taming of the Shrew"; Tuesday evening, "King Richard the Third"; Wednesday matinee, "The Merchant of Venice"; Wednesday evening, "The Merry Wives of Windsor"; Thursday evening, "King Henry the Fourth, Part One"; Friday evening, "Hamlet"; Saturday matinee, "Julius Caesar"; Saturday evening, "The Merry Wives of Windsor."

Musical Company

Pleases Audiences
At the Playhouse

Will Appear All Week in Musical Comedy; Irene Rich
on the Screen

The Parker Musical Comedy Company has met with the instantaneous approval of the patrons at the Playhouse. Their second offering is a clever play entitled "Little Miss 215," and promises to win them many more supporters. New scenery has been painted especially for this bill, and a pretty lighting scheme will be used. Tommy Parker will present a Jewish character during this show, and promises to the patrons some real laughs.

"Powder My Back," the film attraction, is a whimsical, sparkling story of "back stage" people and some who are "up stage." Irene Rich is cast as Fritz Foy, star of a traveling musical show known as "Powder My Back," now showing at the Playhouse. The reform candidate for a second term as mayor takes exception to the scanty attire of the players and closes the show.

Fritz, scheming to get even, is thrown from an auto at the mayor's door, and, against his protests, but with the insistence of his impressionable son, is carried into the said gentleman's home.

"Hear the latest about Newrich?"
"No. What now?"
"He bought a Louis XIV bed, but it was too small for him, so he sent it back and asked for a Louis XVI."

D.O.C. HONORED AT DINNER HERE

Brig.-Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton Guest at McGill Graduates Function

Brigadier-General A. G. L. McNaughton, C.M.G., D.S.O., who will leave here shortly to take the post of chief of staff at Ottawa, was the guest of honor at a reunion dinner held Saturday night in the Empress Hotel by the local organization of McGill University graduates. Brigadier-General McNaughton has for some time been the D.O.C. here. He was attached to the McGill faculty before the war.

"The Relations of National Defence to the Universities of Canada," was the subject dealt with by the honor guest in a short address.

Training courses had been set up for officers at Canadian universities during the war, he pointed out. One had but to inspect the memorial tablet erected in institutions like McGill to see that they had done their duty for their country.

With the end of the war, this work had not stopped, however. Nineteen universities in Canada were providing officers' training courses and about 300 young men qualified annually, he said. In this connection, he pointed out that the University of McGill University would have a corps of 300 by Christmas of this year.

Especially in the air force was this link between universities and the military noticeable, he said. After the air force had come directly under the control of the Department of National Defence in 1923, it had been decided to work hand in hand with the universities and several hundred men were now being trained at Camp Borden.

In conclusion the speaker told of the survey and photographic work done by the air force in Canada, stating that 40,000 miles of territory in British Columbia had been surveyed.

WELSH PRAY FOR KING'S RECOVERY

Rev. B. Ceitho-Davies Refers to His Majesty's Illness During Service

Preaching on Sunday at St. David's Hall before a large congregation, Major the Rev. B. Ceitho-Davies of Wales, war-time chaplain with the British Army, made feeling references to the illness of King George V. The speaker, who was in sympathy to our beloved Queen and the Prince of Wales—their own prince heir apparent to the British throne—and members of the Royal household in their present sore trial. The padre recalled the stirring days of the World War when King George went from Buckingham Palace to Cambridge to view the Fifty-third Welsh Division, then in training in the university town, before they crossed to France. Those were the dark days of the conflict, and the King's words of cheer and wise counsel embraced men with courage and inspired them with determination to play the game and do their duty for King and country," said the padre.

During the service the National Anthem, "God Save the King," led by the Victoria Welsh Choir, was impressively sung.

TIMBER OUTPUT SHOWING GAIN

Production of Year Expected to Be 10 Per Cent Greater Than in 1927

Timber production of British Columbia has increased in quantity this year some ten per cent over the total figure for 1927, officials of the Provincial Forestry Service estimate. They expect this year's total timber output to reach about 2,800,000,000 feet, against the record figure of 2,500,000,000 feet in 1926, the most prosperous year in the history of the industry.

The value of the current crop cannot be gauged accurately at this time, as fluctuating prices may alter it before the end of the year. It should be larger, however, than the figure of $65,000,000 recorded in 1927 and the hope will come close to the record total of $84,802,000 in 1926. On the whole, lumber prices for this year are reported slightly higher than those of last year, but paper prices are down somewhat.

Exports of raw logs from the Province during this year show some fifteen per cent, less in volume than the movement recorded in 1927.

Keating

Mr. McFavish has returned to his home on Central Saanich Road after spending several months on the prairie.

Dr. Burdon of Rasthaven, will address the Young People's Club of the South Saanich United Church at the meeting this evening. His subject will be "Health."

Mrs. Mosher was hostess to about twenty members of the South Saanich Women's Institute at her home on Olives Road on Wednesday afternoon when a sewing bee was held to make new tea cloths for the card party. A busy afternoon and social time was much enjoyed. Tea was served by the hostess.

A large party of members and friends of the South Saanich Farmers' Institute journeyed to Luxton Hall on Tuesday when they enjoyed a merry evening as guests of the Methoon Farmers' Institute.

The Junior Institute held a busy sewing bee at the home of Misses Blanche and Janet Sherring on Thursday evening in preparation for the bazaar, concert and dance, to be held by the club in the Temperance Hall on Wednesday evening, December 5. There will be stalls of fancywork and plain sewing, candy and ice cream, while a Christmas cake and fancy cushion will be lucky prizes. A concert programme is being arranged, and Kinloch's orchestra will provide music for dancing.

REPORT STATES CORDAGE PLANT LOCATING HERE

Private Enterprise Believed to Have Applied For Lease at Ogden Point

Reports that an Eastern cordage factory was seeking a suitable site for the erection of a Western plant, and had applied for a lease of Ogden Point land, was current in the city to-day, but could not be confirmed.

Inquiries at the office of the resident engineer of the Federal Department of Public Works, and also at the engineering division of the Canadian National Railways here, failed to elicit any trace of negotiations which the reports state have reached the stage where a definite site has been selected at Ogden Point.

City officials, who have been in touch with both departments on industrial affairs, stated to-day they had received no word of the project. Application, they said, might have been made privately, and would in this case, not likely come within the knowledge of local officials here.

BULLETINS ON CONDITION OF KING RECEIVED

Bulletins are being received by the secretary to His Excellency the Governor-General at Ottawa on the condition of King George and are being relayed to the Lieutenant-Governor throughout Canada.

The one received yesterday by Lieutenant-Governor R. Randolph Bruce stated that "The King had spent a disturbed day owing to increasing fever, and is in a state of 'tained.' To-day the bulletin was as follows: 'The King passed a restless night. Variability of fever and stages of pleurisy must be expected at this stage of illness.'

ROUTINE MATTERS BEFORE COUNCIL

Signs, Fire Control, Dumb Animals and Other Items Listed

At the request of Alderman William Marchant, who has made plans for attending another session after the meeting, the regular meeting of the City Council has been called for 7 o'clock this evening. One hour earlier than customary.

The council has a long agenda of routine business to consider, including committee reports, the reports of inspecting groups on different matters, and communications.

Retail Merchants' Section of Chamber of Commerce is asking the council to delay action on the early closing law, until this group has an opportunity to canvass the merchants and bring in a report.

F. M. Preston, City Engineer, will report on the cost of carrying out the full programme of the B.C. Underwriters' Association, Fire Branch, in regard to fire control, with an itemized list of what each phase of the work would likely cost.

The congestion of accommodation in the Children's Aid Home is expected to delay action on the early closing law, until this group has an opportunity to canvass the merchants and bring in a report.

The Canadian Anti-Vivisection Society ask the city to ascertain what use has been made of dumb animals for experimental purposes at local hospitals, or if any animals have been made subject to inoculation of other tests.

The works committee will reintroduce the subject of exchanging the city signs with reports from the fire chief.

The Brilliant Tube Sign Company will renew its inquiry for the Dallas Road property, asking the city to set a price on the building and land facing the Outer Docks. The same firm offers the city the free use of the sign for merry Christmas to coincide with the Old English Yuletide festival this year, and also suggests a permanent illuminated sign for the City Hall building itself.

COCHRANE DRUG STORE IS MOVED

Pioneer Druggist Takes Over Premises in Nova Scotia Bank Building

For a third time moving his business to one of the corners of Yates and Douglas Streets, John Cochrane, well-known druggist of the city, has taken over modern premises in the Nova Scotia Bank Building.

The change was made necessary owing to the purchase of the Jewell Block on the southwest corner.

Throughout his business career of over thirty-eight years in Victoria, Mr. Cochrane has been located almost at the corner of these two streets, having occupied premises in each of the blocks at the intersection.

Since 1895, when he bought out the interests of H. A. Mann, with whom he was in partnership at premises on the northwest corner, Mr. Cochrane has conducted the business here.

In 1921, owing to a transaction involving his store, he removed to a site adjoining the Merchant's Bank on the southeast corner. In 1922, this property passed into the hands of the Bank of Montreal, and he moved to the Jewell Block. This block has now been acquired by the Metropolitan Corporation.

The front of the new store has been remodelled and in every way modernized and made attractive.

Ray's time was 2 hours 34 minutes 54 seconds.

CRASH VICTIM IS IMPROVING

HOCKEY TEAM AND FESTIVAL COMPANY GUESTS AT LUNCH

Gyro Club Host To-day to Sport and Art at Very Enjoyable Party

Sport and art went hand in hand to-day when the Gyro Club entertained members of the Victoria Hockey Club, and the Stratford-upon-Avon Festival Company at its regular weekly luncheon in the Chamber of Commerce.

To-day's luncheon was one of the most enjoyable held by the Gyro Club for some time and was thoroughly enjoyed by members of the club and their guests.

WITTY SPEAKER

Joe Smith, manager of the hockey team, was the first guest called upon by President A. W. Trevett, of the Gyros, to speak. The club's chief proved a witty speaker and kept the luncheon guests amused for ten minutes as he briefly told of the good and bad habits of the members of his team.

DIRECTOR SPEAKS

W. Bridges Adams, director of the Festival Company, gave a short talk in which he thanked the members of the Gyro Club for their entertainment. He declared that of all the luncheons at which the company had been entertained since coming to Canada, none had proved so enjoyable as the one to-day.

Upon the invitation of Joe Smith members of the Festival Company were driven this afternoon to the Arena where they watched a workout of the Gyros. Thursday and Friday members of the Gyro Club will drive members of the Festival Company to various public places of interest in the city.

During the luncheon to-day the Gyro Orchestra, under the baton of Gyro Charlie Hunt, rendered a number of selections, and as a feature, William Tickle, director of the Crystal Garden Orchestra, rendered three violin solos which were enthusiastically applauded.

FEEDER LINES NEEDED FOR DEVELOPMENT

Gen. B. R. Hepburn of Picton, Ontario, Says This is Canada's Century

"This is Canada's century. Given good government and fair crops nothing can bar the country's progress," declared Gen. B. R. Hepburn of Picton, Ont., who reached Victoria Saturday afternoon from the East en route to California for a holiday.

"What is needed, however, more particularly in the West, is a system of feeder lines from the trunk roads to the productive outlying sections."

General Hepburn is of the opinion that the transcontinental railways should direct their attention to the development of the country by the building of feeder lines from the trunk roads to the productive outlying sections.

RAILWAYS NEEDED

"You can't expect the settler to make his home many miles removed from a railway as it makes the handling of his wheat prohibitive," said General Hepburn.

"This country seems to be in a flourishing condition and I am prepared to state that no country in the Empire has the advantages that we have in Canada."

"You have a wonderful Province here and more railway lines would materially assist the development of the fertile country to the North."

WOULD EXTEND P.A.C.

"You have the Pacific Great Eastern Railway which starts and ends nowhere. If that line was extended it would undoubtedly benefit the whole Province," he said.

"I am an ardent advocate of railways. It is the railways that will bring about the settlement of vast areas and help the country to fore ahead."

General Hepburn commanded the Canadian Forestry Corps in Europe during the war, with General Alexander Macdougall, and following the termination of hostilities, spent several years in England.

He formerly represented Prince Edward County of Ontario in the House of Commons as a Conservative, but has now retired from the political field.

He is accompanied on his present trip to the Coast by Mrs. Hepburn and is staying at the Empress Hotel while in Victoria.

New Business Block In Terminal City

Vancouver, Nov. 25.—Plans for erection of a modern business building on the property recently purchased by Eakins and Sons Ltd., a Victoria packing concern, at 1141-47 Granville Street, are under consideration by officials of the concern, it was announced to-day.

The property was purchased for $200,000 as an investment, but the desirability of the site for building purposes has increased so greatly in the last few months that it is now probable a commercial structure will be erected.

The site, now occupied by one-story frame buildings, was bought from John G. McNab and Foss J. Earle.

Assize Court Tries Chew Leong Sing on Attempted Murder Charge

Charged with shooting at Wong Lim with intent to murder, and taking part in a fracas on the afternoon of February 5 last, Chew Leong Sing this morning was placed on trial at the Assize Court, Mr. Justice W. A. Macdonald presiding.

The trial is the second appearance of the accused on the charges arising from a shooting affray at the corner of Douglas and Herald Streets, the first trial last month having resulted in a jury disagreement.

Dr. J. M. Fowler identified Wong Lim as a patient at the Jubilee Hospital on February 5. He attended him for a bullet wound in the face and the extraction of a tooth fragment from the tongue.

H. Eckman, assistant city building inspector, proved plans of Douglas Street, near the Hudson's Bay store, the scene of the alleged shooting.

SHOTS AT PAVING

Albert Johnson, operator of a south-bound street car at 4.43 o'clock on the afternoon of February 5, told of seeing two Chinamen standing behind the street car tracks on Douglas Street rapidly firing pistols. The shots were apparently directed toward the pavement, witnesses said.

A third Chinaman, behind a pole on the south-west corner of Herald and Douglas Streets, also had a long-barrelled pistol, but was not seen to fire his weapon.

The witness had heard the firing when a block away, and the shooting ended before he stopped his car. The smaller of the Chinese had blood on the back of one hand, which was noted as the men fled along Herald Street.

He could not identify the accused as one of the armed men he had seen.

MANY SHOOTING

Mrs. Mildred Porteous, when walking northward on Douglas Street, outside the Hudson's Bay Company store, told the court she saw six Chinamen in a group, three of them firing automatic pistols on the street. The group broke up, one man taking shelter behind a pole, from whence he continued firing at a man on the sidewalk who retreated backward, returning the fire. One other man in the middle of the street also shot at the man behind the pole. One man, unarmed and unscathed, ran unsteadily towards the witness and went eastward on Herald Street. Other gunmen disappeared in the same direction.

Miss A. M. Downard, who was walking with Mrs. Porteous, corroborated the evidence given. She saw a wounded man run from behind a billboard. He was unarmed, blood was on his face and running from his right hand. He stumbled as he zig-zagged eastward up Herald Street. The firing lasted about two minutes, and the shots seemed to be aimed in all directions, witness said.

FIRE ALL WAYS

Miss Downard identified a long-barrelled Luger pistol as similar to the weapon first discharged, the shot being aimed westward on Herald Street from a group of about six Chinamen, three or four men joining in the shooting, bullets flying in all directions, the group firing at a man apart and also among themselves.

Miss Downard admitted "I was frightened" when asked by his Lordship, who commented, "I don't think you would be." One bullet crashed into one of the plate glass windows of the Hudson's Bay building, adjacent to the two young women.

Wong was sworn on the burning paper oath after his Lordship had demurred against the chicken oath as unnecessary. When waiting with Wong Lim eastward on Herald Street towards Douglas Street, witness said, he saw Lee Lim at the street corner, who called out "Here they come." Two Chinamen were following witness and his companion up the street, one being the accused. Gunfire broke out and the witness ran away.

At this point Court adjourned until 2.14 this afternoon.

Forty witnesses are expected to be produced during the trial, which is being conducted by W. H. Bullock, Webster as Crown Prosecutor, with Stuart Henderson defending. The case is the last on the Fall docket, and is expected to continue for three days or longer.

VANCOUVER MINING MARKET

Vancouver, Nov. 26.—Considerable buying power came into the market for the much-discussed Fabian Petroleum stock Monday forenoon and the stock, opening at 3 cents, rose up to 7 1/2, on a good volume and receded to 6 1/2 before the noon close. There was no evidence of any heavy "dumping" of the stock on the market, holders evidently preferring to wait for further developments.

No official announcement of the intentions of Fabian was made directly by the company, but those close to the management said Monday morning that the drillers would sink deeper, hoping to get away from the water menace and to find still more oil sands.

Noble Five again showed a heavy trading interest from 50 to 51, and Topley was strong at 40 1/2 to 50. National Silver was an excellent trader, between 19 and 20.

Marmot Metals showed strength to sell up to 9 1/2. Marmot River Gold was steady at 10. Fort Hope Idaho at 60 and 61. Ruth Hope at 50, Snowflake at 33, and Mohawk was strong at 7 1/2, with a good list of sales.

Grandview was off 38 1/2 and 57. Big Missouri was sold at 60 and Kootenay Florence was off to 18 1/2, with Goldcoast steady at 78.

George Copper is held between $4.50 and $5.00.

GIRL ALONE

By ANNE AUSTIN

Copyright 1928 by NKA Service Author of "Saint and Sinner"

Ten or fifteen minutes later, while she was sitting on the edge of her cot-bed, she heard David's firm step on the back stairs, and knew that he had cut short the farmer's "little talk" with him. Reckless of consequences, she slipped out of her door, which she had left ajar, and crept along the dark hall to David's door.

He did not see her at first, for she was only a faint blur in the dark, but at her whispered "David!" he paused, his hands groping for her. "It's all right, honey," he whispered. "I told him pointblank if he sent you back to the Home I'd leave, too. And that will hold him, because he can't do without me at this busy season. He couldn't get another hand right now for love or money, and he knows it. Go to sleep now, and don't worry."

The next morning at breakfast it was plainly evident that David had said one or two things to Clem Carson, and that he in turn had passed them on to Pearl. For Pearl's eyes bore traces of tears shed during the night, and the high colour of anger burned in her plump cheeks. Carson's anger and chagrin at losing all his hopes of David as a son-in-law and of acquiring through his marriage to Pearl, the neighboring farm for his daughter, expressed itself in heavy "loathing," each word tipped with venom.

"Well, well, how's our Sally this morning? What do you know about this Ma's—our little Orphan Annie—is stepping out? Yes, sir, she ain't letting no grass grow under her feet! Caught herself a feller, she has!"

"Eat your breakfast, Clem, and let Sally alone," Mrs. Carson commanded, impatiently. "She's old enough to have a feller if she wants one."

Tears of gratitude to the woman she had thought so stern rushed into Sally's eyes, so that she could not see to butter the hot biscuit she held in her shaking hands.

"She's cut you out, Pearl, beat your time all hollow! And looking as meek and mild as a Jersey heifer all the time! I tell you, Ma, it takes these buttery-mouthed little angels to put over the high-links!"

"I'm sure I wouldn't have looked at a hired man," Pearl cried angrily, tossing her head. "Sally's welcome to him. But I can't say I admire his taste."

Sally's eyes, drowned in tears, fluttered toward David.

"Don't you think you're going pretty far, Mr. Carson?" David asked abruptly. "No offense, no offense," Carson protested hastily, with a shrug of his shoulders. "I'm a man that likes his joke, and it does strike me as funny that a fine, upstanding college man like you, due to come into property some day, should cotton to a scared little rabbit of an orphan like Sally here."

"That'll do, Clem!" Mrs. Carson interrupted sharply. "Get along with your breakfast and clear out all of you! Sally and me have got a big day's work ahead of us. Pearl, I want you to drive to Capital City for some more Mason jars for me. I'm all out."

Later when Sally was washing dishes, Pearl bounced into the kitchen, dressed for her trip to the city, her arms full of soiled white shoes, stockings and silk underwear.

"Sally," she said, her voice like a whip lash. "I want you to clean these shoes for me to-day and wash out these stockings and underwear. See that you do a good job, or you'll have to do it over."

Sally, making the suds from the dishpan off her arms and hands, accepted the pile of garments dumbly, but resentment gushed forth in her throat. "I've got enough work laid out for Sally to keep her busy every minute to-day," Mrs. Carson rebuked Pearl, sharply. "Why can't you do your own cleaning, Pearl?"

"Because I've got a luncheon date, and a matinee in town to-day, and I need these things for to-night. I'm going to a party at the Mullins'. Goodbye, Mom. Two dozen jars, enough!"

When Sally was again bent over the dishpan she heard the little old grandmother's uncertain, quivering voice: "It ain't fair, Debbie, the way you let Pearl run over Sally. She's a nice, polite-spoken little girl, the best worker I ever see."

"I know, Ma," Mrs. Carson answered in so kind a voice that fresh tears welled in Sally's eyes. "Pearl's been spoiled. But I'm too busy now to take it out of her. I wonder, Ma, if you couldn't rip up them other two dresses and give them to Sally? The child really ain't got a thing to wear. If you'll just rip the seams, I'll stitch 'em myself at night, if I ain't too tired."

Sally whirled from the dishpan, stooped swiftly and laid her lips for an instant upon Mrs. Carson's hand. Then, flushing vividly, she ran back to the kitchen sink, seized the big flour-sack dish towel and began to polish a glass with intense energy.

Although Mrs. Carson made no comment on Sally's shy caress, the girl felt that from that moment the farmer's wife was her friend, undaunted but staunch.

Knowing that any day might prove to be her last on the farm, for Carson never let slip an opportunity to threaten her by insinuating the disgrace of being sent back to the Home, Sally found a ray of comfort in the fact that Grandma Carson, probably because she felt sorry for Sally, constantly hectoring at her was by the jealous, virtuous-tongued Pearl, was slowly but surely completing the necessary alterations upon the other two dresses that Pearl had given her.

The vague-eyed, kindly little old woman finished the alterations on Saturday morning, and Sally sped to her parrot room with them, there to try them on and gloat over them. Then, her eyes darting now and then to the closed door, she hastily made a bundle of the three dresses and hid it under the cornshake mattress of her bed. Maybe it was stealing to take the dresses if she had to run away, but she couldn't hope to escape in the orphanage uniform.

Early Saturday afternoon, Mrs. Carson announced that she had to go into the city to do some shopping. The farmer suggested that Pearl drive her in, since he himself was to be busy setting up the elder mill in a shack he had built at the foot of the lane, where it ran into the state highway.

"And you might as well take the Dodge and let Ma and Benny go in with you," they haven't seen a picture show for a month," Carson suggested. "The thought of seeing a movie overcame Sally's timidity. 'Would there be room for me, Mrs. Carson? I could help you with your shopping, help carry things—'

"I don't see why not," Mrs. Carson answered. "I got a lot of trotting around to do and it's mighty hot—"

"Mama, if she goes, I won't go a step!" Pearl burst out shrilly. "I won't have her tagging after us all afternoon, making eyes at every man that speaks to me!"

"Pearl, Pearl, I'm afraid you're spoiled rotten!" Mrs. Carson shook her head sadly. "I'll bring you a pair of them fiber silk stockings, Sally, to wear to church to-morrow night with your flowered taffeta," she offered brusquely, by way of consolation.

When the car had swept down the lane and Sally was left alone in the house, she busied herself furiously in an effort to dissipate her loneliness and disappointment, and a fear that grew upon her with the realization that Carson had not accompanied his family to town. The two hired men had left the farm for Capital City immediately after the noon meal, wages in their pockets, bent on an afternoon and evening of city pleasures. On the entire farm there was no one but herself, Carson and David. And where was David? If she needed him terribly, would he fail her?

As the afternoon wore on, and still Carson did not appear, Sally's gratitude for Mrs. Carson's inarticulate kindness sent her on a flying trip to the orchard to gather enough hard-

THE TINYMITE

STORY BY MAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KNICK

READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE

The Tynmites were in a plight. Their cloud was quite a sad, sad sight. As raindrops slowly fell from it, it seemed to drift apart. Said Scouty, "We're not safe at all. Our rowboat's just about to fall. I know that I am scared, just by the thumping of my heart."

"Well, why sit here and merely fret?" asked Goppy. "Find a way to get out of this predicament before it is too late. Let's all think hard, and do our best, and with a plan, we may be blessed. Our boat is tipping 'round again. It's hard to keep it straight."

All sat in silence for a spell, and then the rest heard Scouty yell. "I have a plan that ought to work. If we should—shoot—shoot—shoot!" then he added, loud, "All hail the bit of canvas in our sail. I'm sure that we can use it for a dandy parachute."

So they began to make pies for supper. Carson's began to hope, was so busy setting up the elder mill that he would have no time to take her back to the orphanage, even if he wanted to. Maybe she was safe for a while, she would not run away just yet, for if she ran away she would never see David again.

It was fun to have the whole big kitchen to herself. Humming under her breath, she ut-tilized her well-learned flour, using the full amount that Mrs. Carson's pie crust called for. At the orphanage the pie crust was tough and leathery, because the matron would not permit the cook to use enough lard. What joy it was to cook on a prosperous farm, where there was an abundance of every good thing to eat! If only she could stay the whole summer through! She could stand the hard work.

As she piled the sliced apples thickly into the crimped pie crust, she thought wistfully of Mrs. Carson, who was kind to her although she was a hard task-mistress.

To-morrow's Horoscope

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 27, 1928

Boisterous aspects to-day contend with malefic influences, according to astrology, which cautions care in conducting all important business matters. Although merchants and manufacturers may be lulled with the spirit of enterprise to-day they should not be too sure of their judgment. Neptune is in a place supposed to encourage self-deception as well as the tendency to mislead others. Deceit and intrigue are believed to flourish under this sway.

Again oil and oil products will enrage public interest and regulations regarding certain sinister speculators may be expected. This should be a lucky day for seeking positions—looking for the applicant that the employer, for it is impossible to appear much cleverer than one really is while this planetary government prevails. Again the stars frown upon the aged who belong to the old order of things and many sudden deaths will take place. Women as well as men who have been leaders in America will come to the end of their careers, for it is indicated that many are to pass before the end of next year. The stars promise for the young superb attainments in the arts and sciences. They will have courage to establish sweeping reforms that make the last century appear barbaric in its standards.

This evening should be an auspicious time for any sort of constructive work. It is supposed to inspire those who make plans. Persons whose birthdate it is should have a fairly prosperous year in which government employment should bring good luck. Children born on this day probably will be exceedingly sympathetic and kind-hearted. These subjects of Basilianus usually are lovers of animals.

DEWEY'S PILOT AT MANILA BAY IN CITY TO DAY

Capt. Francisco Aguado Met on Arrival By Members of Gizeh Temple

Military Officers Arrive From the Orient En Route to England

Capt. Francisco Aguado, who served as pilot with Admiral George Dewey, following the destruction of the Spanish fleet in the battle of Manila Bay, in 1898, reached Victoria on Saturday from the Philippine Islands aboard the C.P.R. liner Empress of Asia.

Although being generally credited with the distinction of piloting Dewey's fleet into Manila Bay prior to the historic fight, Captain Aguado to-day denied this story.

"When I was asked to pilot the U. S. fleet in to Manila Bay, I told Admiral Dewey that I would not be a savage," said the famous Filipino pilot before disembarking from the liner here to get a glimpse of the city.
"It is true that I served as pilot with Dewey subsequent to the battle of Manila Bay," he added.

Captain Aguado is a well-known member of the Nile Temple.
He is a senior pilot at Manila and piloted the famous Potomac, which on the occasion of the visit of the Nile Temple to the Philippines in 1927.

Thomas W. C. Hawkins and other prominent members of the Gizeh
Temple of Victoria greeted Captain Aguado at the dock and entertained him and his daughter, Miss A. Aguado, while they were in the city.

as manager for the General Motors Corporation at Osaka, J. J. Welker, of

Osaka by the General Motors Cor-

Welker.

C. D. Waters, a director of the Far Eastern firm of Brunner Mond and Company, arrived with his family from Kobe, en route to London.
Military officers arriving from the Orient by the Empress liner included

Guards, who is proceeding home on leave; Lieutenant C. Urwick, of the Northamptonshire Regiment, and Captain C. R. Jones, a retired

Hapsburg age of majority, the Legation at Paris has announced his allegiance to him as his monarch. The throne of Hungary, vacant since the late King Charles abdicated in 1918, has had several claimants, among them ex-Archduke Albert, of Mecklenburg, and which occurred last June, was seen to best advantage in the western part of the continent. On Tuesday, at 2:24 Eastern standard time, the earth will begin its movement directly between the sun and the moon. At 3:33 the shadow of the moon will completely cover the sun. The total eclipse will be over

MAY USE FAMOUS CUTTER BEAR AS TRAINING SHIP

San Francisco Body Proposes to Utilize Arctic Vessel as Navigation School

Made First Trip North Forty-four Years Ago; Has Splendid Record

San Francisco, Nov. 25.—This city does not propose to see the historic old Alaskan cutter Bear auctioned or scrapped by the Government to an indifferent fate.
The city's Chamber of Commerce is actively at work on a plan to take over the Bear, which was the sole means of communication with vast areas of the frozen Arctic regions for many years, as a navigation school in this port for the training of young navigators.

In order to save the ship, legislative authority by Congress will be necessary, and in order to get funds to support the navigation school as appropriation by the state must be provided.

NAVIGATION SCHOOLS
Navigation schools like the one proposed here are maintained at Boston,
New York and Philadelphia. These schools are operated under the Congressional Act of 1911, whereby the government agrees to furnish ship and equipment, together with $25,000 a year for support, provided that the state in which the school is located is prepared to maintain the school and pay necessary expenses over and above the amount of the government subsidy. The Massachusetts school operates on a yearly budget of $100,000.

The Bear was built at Greenock, Scotland, in 1874. She is 198 feet long, 28 feet 6 inches beam, 16 feet draft and 1,700 tons. She was turned over to the United States and made her first trip to the Arctic under the United States flag forty-four years ago in command of Commander W. S.
Schley, later admiral and one of the naval heroes of the Spanish-American war.

The first voyage north was in connection with the Greely relief expedition to save 265 persons ice-bound and without food near Point Barrow. Practically every year since then, until laid up this year, the Bear has made the voyage north.

Fighting the roughest sea, ice floes and all kinds of weather, the Bear has a record of never losing a man or a boat in its trips for humanity and mercy, carrying supplies to isolated stations of the Far North.

Canadian Seignior Due Next Sunday

ern Canadian ports, according to advice received in the city this morning by H. A. Stuart, divisional freight agent for the C.N.R. The Seignior will proceed to Vancouver after discharging here.
